PARKER AND DAVIS

NOMINEES OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

Standard Bearers Chosen After Long and Exciting Sessions—Statement by Parker Regarding Currency Question Causes the Convention to Take Recess—Matters Finally Adjusted by Leaders.

PARKER'S TELEGRAM.

"I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established, and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention of to day shall be ratified by the people. As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention, and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority I request you to decline the nomination for me at once so that another may be nominated before adjournment."

St. Louis, July 9.—Chief Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, was nominated at 6:15 o'clock this morning for president of the United States by the democratic national convention on the first ballot. After the nomination the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The convention was in session from 8 o'clock last night until nearly 6:15 this morning and in that time eight names were presented to the convention. Nominating and seconding speeches innumerable were made and when dawn appeared it became necessary to limit seconding speeches to four minutes each. Extension was made in the case of W. J. Bryan who in one of the most dramatic situations ever witnessed in a political gathering addressed the convention and concluded by seconding the nomination of Senator Cockrell.

Bryan received the third greatest ovation accorded during the convention. His speech was an impassioned appeal to the delegates to give the party a candidate who had voted the Democratic ticket in 1896 and 1900. He spoke on behalf of the Nebraska delegation, which, he said, had no candidate to present or favor to ask, but wanted a candidate whose nomination would not prove a triumph for one faction over another. He was given the closest attention. The great convention listened as though every word were a personal message to each person; as if a hypnotic spell had been cast over the throng. But when it was all over the Parker forces had not been shaken and the ballot for president gave Parker 68 votes out of the 97 needed to nominate and before the result could be announced Idaho, Nevada, Washington and others made changes to the Parker column.

Governor Dockery of Missouri moved to make the nomination unanimous and it carried amidst increasing cheers.

The result of the ballot was never announced officially and it is not likely it ever will be.

At the close of the convention many figures prominent in the contest were surrounded by friends and heartily congratulated. Notable among these were David B. Hill, who had been in actual charge of Parker's campaign. He laughed and cried alternately.

The convention took a recess yesterday until 8 o'clock last night for the purpose of resolving the report of the committee on resolutions. The report was received and adopted by a viva voce vote. As far as surface indications were concerned there was no more opposition to the platform than there had been to that accepted unanimously by the Republican convention in Chicago a few weeks ago. Nominations were immediately proceeded with. Alabama yielded to New York and Judge Parker's name was first presented to the convention. After that Hearst, Gray, Cockrell, Wall, Williams, Olney and Miles were named in speeches which took nearly the entire night.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A report that an attempt might be made to reopen the platform and insert a financial plank spread rapidly in the hall before the convention was called to order. It created consternation among most of the delegates, who saw an end to their hopes of leaving St. Louis to night or early to morning. The session opened with an evident air of expectancy.

Shortly before the session convened the rumor that Davis of West Virginia had been agreed upon by the leaders for the vice presidency went rapidly through the hall and delegates gathered in groups to discuss the situation.

The convention was called to order at 5:30 and immediately an agreement was reached limiting speeches to ten minutes and seconding to five, and limiting the number of the latter to three. The roll of states was then called for the presentation of candidates for vice president.

Alabama was called several times with no response, but finally Russell of that state announced that Alabama would give to Illinois, Samuel Abscherer of Illinois announced that Freeman B. Morris would speak from that state. Morris took the platform and named James R. Williams of Illinois. Cheers greeted the mention of Williams' name, but the did not come in a great measure from delegates.

Colorado yielded to Washington and the chairman recognized Frederick C. Robertson of that state, who spoke for former Senator George Turner.

Connecticut yielded to Indiana and Delegate Spencer of that state seconded the nomination of Williams of Illinois.

By this time a report that a telegram had been received from Parker, declaring his position on the financial question had become general. A crowd of delegates hurriedly gathered around Sheehan of New York and Tillman of South Carolina. Little conferences began to occur and the orators did not receive much attention except from the galleries and the small fry, who did not know that a probable sensation was ripening all about them.

Delaware gave her place to West Virginia. John D. Alderson of that state nominated Henry G. Davis of West Virginia.

Senator Dubois of Idaho was the next speaker and he seconded the nomination of Turner of Washington.

David Overmeyer of Kansas placed former Senator William A. Harris of that state in nomination in a brief speech from the floor.

STORM GATHERING.

As the unexciting routine of nominating and seconding speeches proceeded the storm that seemed inevitable was gathering. Leaders hurried to and fro with anxious faces and the news from Esopus spread rapidly. The floor filled with delegates and in Parker states men sat with heads close together in whispered consultations. At 7 o'clock there were signs to the initiated that the session was going to be dramatic in the extreme, but the average delegate sweated and smiled and listened to the flow of favorite son oratory all unconscious of the great things that were forming in the party's heart. The roll call of states proceeded until Maryland John Prentice Poe took the platform and seconded the nomination of Davis of West Virginia.

Senator Clark of Montana seconded the Turner nomination.

Nebraska's response was the statement that she waited with interest the choice of New York. New York requested to be passed when called on in the roll call. Ohio had no candidate.

Senator Carmack of Tennessee was nominated by Delegate Hersey of that state. The first rumble of the approaching storm was heard at just 7 o'clock. Senator South of Arkansas broke in on the roll call with a motion that, in view of the rumors disturbing the convention, recess be taken until eight. His motion did not prevail.

The convention was in such an uproar because of the Parker telegram rumors that the latter part of the roll call was inaudible. Chairman Clark directed that the roll be called for the announcement of votes.

Senator Culberson of Texas secured recognition. He was visibly excited when he secured recognition and mounting his chair said:

"For reasons which are obvious to all delegates here it seems to me we ought not to proceed at this time to nominate a candidate for vice president. I therefore move that the convention—"

Here cries of "Why?" "Why?" interrupted Culberson.

"I think the delegates understand what I mean," he proceeded.

Chairman Clark interjected, "Proceed." "And I repeat," concluded Culberson, "that in the present exigencies which confront the convention it ought not to proceed to the nomination of vice president."

"Right," "Right," greeted this statement. "We want to know before a candidate for vice president is nominated who will be the candidate for president."

Applause and cries of approval again interrupted the speaker. When he could be heard he made his motion for recess until 8:30. This motion carried.

The confusion, great before Culberson rose, was intensified greatly when he sat down after intimating that Parker might possibly vacate the head of the ticket.

As soon as recess was announced the delegates instead of leaving the hall, rushed into conferences. In an instant there were fully twenty groups in the hall, in the center of which were two or three violently excited and gesticulating men who discussed the Parker telegram vehemently.

A dense throng through which it was impossible to pass gathered in front of the chairman's desk and strove desperately to learn the exact import of the message. Their efforts were unavailing, however. The leaders disappeared and the session closed with an atmosphere of tense expectancy as to what would occur when it reconvened at 8:30.

NIGHT SESSION.

The evening session was called to order at 9:00 with the greater number of delegates and alternates in their seats and keyed up to a high pitch of excitement over the possible events of the night.

The greatest excitement prevailed in and around the hall. A big crowd of spectators was present. As soon as order was secured Governor Vandaman of Mississippi called attention to rumors concerning a telegram from Judge Parker and moved the gentleman from the New York delegation reported as receiving the message should send it to the clerk's desk to be read. "Confusion of the rabble and mob has characterized every hour of the convention since its sitting," declared Vandaman. "Let us find out what this rumor is," he continued, "that has created disorder in this hall. Let the gentleman from New York to whom the telegram is addressed read it—let it be read, let the truth be known and then let us proceed to business."

The chairman put the motion.

George Raines of New York asked that the motion be deferred until the chairman of his delegation could be heard from. The motion was withdrawn temporarily.

Judge Richardson of Alabama asked that Senator Carmack of Tennessee be interrogated as to whether or not he had received a telegram from Judge Parker, saying that he could not accept the nomination unless there was a gold declaration in the platform, and which was published in an evening paper.

At the suggestion of the chairman the convention decided to await the arrival of the conference committee with the telegram.

The committee reached the hall at 9:35 and filed along the crowded aisle, in the center of the convention floor. Delegates thronged about them, asking, "What shall we do?"

"Keep your heads and be brave," retorted Senator Tillman.

John S. Williams, Governor Vandaman and Senator Carmack made their way to the platform with the mysterious message in their possession. A short conference took place between them and Chairman Clark. Clark pounded for order with John S. Williams standing by his side. The chairman introduced Williams, at the same time announcing that "on this important matter every man shall have a full and fair hearing."

Williams declared at the beginning that the published telegram purporting to come from Parker was never received by Mr. Carmack. "Nobody has received a telegram containing the language in that infamous volunteer production," said Williams. He said Mr. Sheehan, however, had received a telegram from Parker which would be read. Continuing, he said:

"When you shall have heard it you will note that there is not in it one word about requiring, or demanding, or asking, or requesting that anything should be placed in the Democratic platform. You will also note that, if there is any error in it at all, it is an error of judgment, proceeding from a too sensitive spirit of honor, a too sensitive idea not to be misunderstood or placed in a false or double position."

He handed the message to Governor Vandaman, who read it as follows:

"I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention of to day shall be ratified by the people. As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention, and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority I request you to decline the nomination for me at once so that another may be nominated before adjournment."

A ringing cheer went around the hall, but it was brief, so anxious were the delegates to see what would follow.

Williams again addressed the convention. He spoke of Parker's honor being so great that he was willing to decline the nomination because he thought there was something in the platform not in accord with his own opinion.

Williams said the platform was purposely made silent on the money question because it was agreed that it was not an issue. He said every one in the convention knew Parker was a gold standard man, but he always supported the Democratic candidates. Williams said in closing:

"We purposely made a platform, so far as the monetary standard is concerned, upon which W. J. Bryan could have stood, or Grover Cleveland could have stood, or anybody else who was with us in the impending live campaign issues could have stood."

He asked Tillman to read the message in reply to Parker's. It was as follows:

"The platform adopted by this convention is silent on the question of monetary standard because it is not regarded by us as a possible issue in this campaign, and only campaign issues were mentioned in the platform. Therefore, there is nothing in the views expressed by you in the telegram just received which would preclude a man entertaining them from accepting a nomination on said platform."

Tillman discussed the matter at length. While Tillman was talking Bryan came into the hall. Instantly there was an uproar. Calls of "Bryan, Bryan" went up and the galleries cheered. Bryan first went to his place in the pit, but as cries of the Nebraska's name, coupled with the words, "platform, platform," continued, Bryan made his way to the stage.

When Tillman concluded Bryan rose and came to front of the rostrum. His face was pale and drawn with illness, his voice was weak and hoarse. He spoke with great effort, but quietly and with self control. As the speaker narrated the story of his efforts to secure the insertion in the platform of a financial plank excitement covered his face and his gestures became more frequent and emphatic. His declaration that the sending of a telegram to Parker was a declaration on the gold standard side, and his statement that if the Democracy was to adopt such a view it should be honest and say so frankly, was greeted with applause from the galleries.

At the conclusion of Bryan's speech Senator Daniel spoke briefly and he was followed by General Weaver of Iowa. The latter opposed sending the telegram to Parker.

Hamilton of Massachusetts spoke in favor of sending the telegram.

Senator Carmack of Tennessee defended Parker's position and Bryan rose to speak again. This time, however, it was to deny a statement of the previous speaker that Bryan had said the nomination of Parker would be declared enough on the money plank. Bryan offered the following amendment to the telegram to Parker:

"But as you will, if elected, be called upon to act upon certain phases of the money question, we would like to know whether you favor reducing the volume of silver dollars; whether you favor an asset currency and branch national banks; whether you prefer national bank currency to United States notes."

A short debate between Bryan and Carmack took place as to the proceedings of the resolutions committee. John Sharp Williams showed great resentment in replying to Bryan. He declared despite his protest that Bryan was the one man in the convention who had sought to prevent harmony.

During Williams' speech frequent calls of "Question." In the confusion an effort was made to make an adjournment motion, but it was ruled out of order. Bryan sprang to his feet and declared if it would conduce to harmony he would withdraw his amendment to the reply, and he did so.

The roll call was ordered on adoption of the reply to Parker's telegram. The result was announced to be 71 ayes, 181 noes, and the message was ordered sent by the convention. The vote closed the incident.

The order of business went back to the point where Governor Vandaman sprung the Parker telegram rumor and asked for a recess just as the roll of states was about to be called for a vote on nomination of a candidate for vice president, and the chair directed the roll called.

Alabama, Arkansas and California went solidly for Davis. Turner scored seven on the Colorado vote and Williams received three at the same time.

The final result of the ballot was unofficially: Williams, 165; Turner, 100; Davis, 57; Harris, 58. Iowa did not vote. The nomination of Davis was made unanimous.

The national committee was authorized to fill any vacancy that might occur on the national ticket. The usual resolutions of thanks were adopted.

Chairman Champ Clark and Temporary Chairman Williams were made respectively chairman of the committees to notify Judge Parker and ex-Senator Davis of their nomination.

Senator McCrory of Kentucky presided in the closing moments of the convention and at 1:31 Sunday morning adjourned the convention sine die, the band playing "Auld Lang Syne."

TRIBUTE PAID COCKRELL.

One of the features of the session was the beautiful tribute paid to Senator Cockrell when his name was placed in nomination by Champ Clark. It was a spontaneous outburst and for that reason complimentary to the senator. Delegates, already weary of the tedious and trying session, paused in their labors and indulged in a demonstration continuing for about half an hour. Nearly every delegate and spectator in the galleries or on the floor had been provided with a flag and the scene was far more impressive of all ovations given during the session. The thousands of cheering persons apparently converted Bryan to the belief Cockrell's chances of nomination were greater than any other favorite son. The Nebraska gained recognition soon after the Cockrell demonstration and in a speech, directed undoubtedly in an effort to defeat Parker, made his electrifying plea for the anti-Parker forces to rally.

WILL VOTE FOR TICKET.

St. Louis, July 9.—When asked to night whether it is his intention to support the ticket Mr. Bryan said:

"I have nothing to say except that I expect to cast my vote for the ticket."

INFORMED OF NOMINATION

HOW NEWS WAS RECEIVED BY PARKER

Had Nothing to Say on the Subject—Cleveland Well Pleased—Congratulated by Various Party Leaders.

Esopus, N. Y., July 9.—Judge Parker was notified of his nomination at 6:30 this morning just as he emerged from the river after a morning swim. He was informed by the Associated Press. Upon receiving the news he smiled broadly and said: "Is that so?" He asked for details of the vote and made no attempt to disguise his satisfaction over the result.

When asked if he would say anything about the nomination he replied: "No, I shall say nothing on the subject until officially notified of my nomination."

The report that Judge Parker had sent word to his friends in St. Louis that he declined to a platform devoid of a gold plank reached here to night just as the Esopus people were preparing to celebrate the nomination of Parker, but he refused to make the slightest comment or to be questioned on the subject.

At almost the same hour the steam yacht Sapphire anchored in front of Rossmore and immediately John B. MacDonald and Judge E. P. Hatch, of New York, were landed. MacDonald had a long conference with Parker. His misdeeds could not be learned, but it is certain the yacht left New York early this afternoon and was delayed only by stops at one or two points where telephonic communication was possible.

The news from St. Louis did not interfere with the celebration. The town was gaily decorated, a procession marched through the streets to the Parker residence, where congratulatory speeches were made by prominent citizens.

The text of the telegram prepared by the conference committee at St. Louis and which it was suggested should be sent Parker was communicated to him to night by the Associated Press. He declined to discuss it and said that in no contingency would he have anything whatever to say.

Long after midnight lights in Judge Parker's house were burning, but at a late hour the Associated Press was assured that in no contingency would the judge have anything to say on the subject of his reported message to the convention or any reply which it might decide to send to him.

Parker had retired when the nomination for vice president was made.

FROM HEARST.

Chicago, July 9.—William Randolph Hearst telegraphed his congratulations to Judge Parker on his nomination and on the platform, adding:

"I hope and believe that battling for the people and for such principles you will lead the Democracy to victory."

Esopus, July 9.—Judge Parker received a large number of congratulatory telegrams, among them from former Secretary of War Lamont, Senator Cockrell of Missouri, Mrs. Daniel Manning of St. Louis, Congressman Lamb of Indiana, J. M. Page of Jerseyville, Ill., A. C. Wells of Duluth, Minn.

MCCLELLAN'S CONGRATULATIONS.

New York, July 9.—Mayor McClellan this morning telegraphed his congratulations to Parker and said all Democrats will work enthusiastically for his election.

CLEVELAND PLEASED.

Buxarids Bay, Mass., July 9.—Grover Cleveland, who is the guest here of Joseph Jefferson, was advised of the nomination of Parker as soon as he awoke this morning. Later Cleveland sent the following statement to the Associated Press:

"I am in absolute ignorance of the action of the St. Louis convention except in so far as it has nominated Parker. With this result I am abundantly gratified. I hope the remainder of the work of the convention will add to the encouraging prospects of Democratic success. This is all I can possibly say at this time."

FROM COCKRELL.

Warrensburg, July 9.—Senator Cockrell to day sent the following telegram to Parker: "Tender you my sincere congratulations; will heartily labor for your election."

NO COMMENT.

Oyster Bay, July 9.—President Roosevelt made no comment on the nomination of Parker when the action of the Democratic convention reached him this morning. What he may have to say concerning the Democratic platform and candidates probably will be said in his letter of acceptance of his own nomination.

RIVERS FALLING.

Kansas City, July 9.—Waters in the Kaw and Missouri rivers have fallen steadily since late yesterday, eliminating the last danger of further damage. Railroads are recovering to day every line south an west operated some trains in and out of Kansas City, although with little regard to schedule. The war department has ordered officers at Ft. Leavenworth to issue a thousand tents and five days rations for relief of flood sufferers.

BRYAN'S SPEECH

Plan of the Nebraska Before the Democratic National Convention.

St. Louis, July 9.—The following is the speech of William J. Bryan delivered before the Democratic national convention at 6 o'clock this morning:

"Welcome," called the clerk, and as that state had exchanged places with Nebraska, this was Bryan's chance. He mounted the platform and asked unanimous consent for the suspension of the time limit to seconding speeches. It was granted him, and he opened his address in a voice so weak and hoarse as to be scarcely recognizable as his own. His declaration that he had fought the fight and he might have doubted his course, but that nobody could deny that he had kept the faith was greeted with cheers and cries "You did" and "That's so."

As he proceeded the great hall became silent. It was as silent as a church and the thousands who filled it hung on his every word. No such tribute had been paid to any man of all those who had spoken since the Democratic convention was called to order last Wednesday morning.

After stating that twice he had borne the standard for the party, Bryan concluded: "I come to night to this Democratic convention to return the commission and to say that you may dispute whether I have fought the good fight, you may dispute whether I have finished my course, but you cannot deny that I have kept the faith. To day as a private citizen I am more interested in the success of the Democratic ticket than I was when I was a candidate."

When he declared himself a loyal Democrat under all conditions applause came in great volume. He read that portion of the speech of Governor Black of New York, nominating Roosevelt, which declared that they were unable to come at any time to any nation and declared the principle underlying that utterance was a challenge to the civilization of the world.

As he proceeded the sympathy of his audience for the man who had lost much of the power he had held, admiration for his power as an orator, and beneath it all, that sincere liking for the man that endures in so many hearts, was manifest and contributed toward the great silence of respect in which his words were heard, the sincere admiration with which they were received and the spontaneous applause accorded his telling sentence.

There were many men in the country, he declared, who had considered his election dangerous, but he had always believed, and hoped he would always believe, that a man's duty to his country was higher than his duty to his party. The applause that endorsed this declaration was quick and general.

Declaring that Roosevelt, if he believed in war as the arbiter of disputes, was a dangerous man to elect, he continued: "I believe he ought to be defeated. I believe he can be defeated. I tried to defeat the Republican party as your candidate. I failed, you say. Yes, I did. But I received a million more votes than any Democrat had ever received before. Yet I failed."

Here Bryan paused, and, lifting his head, swept the hall with his gaze. "Why did I fail?" he asked, and replying to his own question, he said: "Because there were some who were affiliated with the Democratic party who thought my election dangerous to the country. They helped to elect my opponent. That is why. But I have no criticism for them."

Most of his speech was delivered in the direction of the New York delegation and many of his gestures were made toward David B. Hill personally. The New Yorker sat still in his seat, however, and gave no evidence that any thrust from Bryan went home to him.

Pittsburg, July 9.—Shouting for police and pursued by several hundred of his parishioners, Father B. Beknavas, pastor of St. Nicholas Croatian church of Allegheny, narrowly escaped possible death at the hands of infuriated men and women last night. Through the efforts of police, who guarded the priest's domicile, storming of the house was prevented. The trouble was started by a member of the church making the allegation that the pastor's fees for officiating at christenings, weddings and funerals were exorbitant.

COMPLAINTS WITH DEMANDS.

Vienna, July 9.—A dispatch from Constantinople says American Minister Leishman handed a note to the porte declaring that unless prompt settlement of the school question was arranged a United States fleet would appear in Turkish waters. The sultan ordered the grand vizier to comply with the American minister's demands.

SPENT YEAR IN ROME

Miss Lillian Dimmitt, Student in American School Tells of Her Work and Experiences

Miss Lillian Dimmitt has recently returned from Europe, where she spent the past year in the American school at Rome. She speaks very highly of the work of the school and of the city of Rome and the Italian people. In conversation with a Journal reporter recently, concerning her work and experiences there she said:

"The American school was founded and is supported by American people who are interested in archeology and archeological research, and some of the American universities. Graduates of any reputable college are admitted, and the membership last year was about thirty, although an effort is made to keep it down to about twenty-five. The resident director is Prof. Richard Norton, of Harvard, who has been re-elected for another five years. The American lecturer for the past year was Dr. J. C. Egbert, of Columbia university."

"The work of the school consists of research work along archeological lines, archeological tramps every Saturday and on other days to excavations and the most interesting ruins, and attendance upon lectures. The research work comprises study of manuscripts, inscriptions, aqueducts, ancient Roman art and architecture and the study of topography, in order that the students might more clearly interpret ancient literature."

"The lectures are given in an interesting manner, with the subjects under discussion close at hand. For instance, the lectures on paleography are given in the Vatican, where the manuscripts are available; on epigraphy, the study of ancient inscriptions, in museums and in the Forum; on Roman topography, before the monuments, in the Forum, on the Palatine hill and along the river; on ancient Roman art, in the sculpture galleries. The general topography of the Mediterranean basin is also discussed. All students attend the lectures, but after their first year they are expected to do considerable original research work."

"The German schools in Rome are also open to the Americans, who largely attend them, as the Germans are known as the most eminent archeologists. Another pleasant feature of the work is that visitors are always invited to lecture to the classes. During the past year we had a number of lectures by distinguished visitors, which were very interesting and instructive."

"On one of our archeological tramps we followed traces of the aqueduct for fifteen miles to where it took its source from the hills. All the main branches can be easily traced. At another time we took the train for the Albion hills, seventeen miles away, and followed the Apian Way for fifteen miles, studying the ancient tombs and inscriptions. The Italians are very careful to protect the ruins and when the arches of the aqueduct begin to give way they prop them up and use every means to preserve them."

"The building material of the ancient Romans comprised about twenty-five varieties of marble, such as oriental diorite, lapis lazuli and others, of surpassing beauty. When Rome fell this material was taken to decorate the churches with and the effect is magnificent indeed. American tourists take much delight in Rome, with her ancient monuments, the Catholic church and court life—it is all new to Americans, and they enjoy it accordingly. Thus the study of the Latin people is exceedingly interesting."

"Victor Emmanuel is a very popular sovereign. He is very progressive and can speak English with almost no accent. He is friendly to all nations and to all parties, saying to the strong Socialist party that if a republic is established he would like to be its first president. United States Ambassador Meyer is also very popular. He gave a reception to all the Americans of the city on Thanksgiving day and in every way makes himself agreeable. There are always many American tourists there and a considerable number of residents."

"Most of the students in Rome board with Italian families. In order to more readily acquire the language, at the close of the lectures in March the students generally devote several weeks in travel. One of the things that impressed me especially on the continent is the evidently implicit trust the people have in Americans. One instance that I recall is that a friend of mine had looked at a coat in Paris, intending to buy it, but later decided that she would need all the money she had with her for her return trip, but the dealer insisted on her taking the coat and sending the money after she got home, saying that if she could afford to be dishonest that he could afford to lose the coat."

After leaving Rome Miss Dimmitt traveled in southern Italy and returned by way of England and Scotland, arriving in this city Tuesday morning. She brought with her many interesting relics, including about forty coins dating from the time of Augustus Caesar down through the emperors, some stamped bricks from the Aurelian wall and from the Palatine hill bearing the date of the first century A. D. and some beautiful specimens of the marbles of which ancient Rome was built."

Miss Dimmitt is a graduate of the Illinois Wesleyan university, from which school she received the degree of B. A. in 1928. She was also a graduate student of the U. of C. She holds the chair of Latin in Morningstar college at Sioux City, Iowa, by which school she was granted a year's leave of absence, which was spent in study in Rome. The year's leave having expired, she will return to her work in Sioux City in September.

FISHING SEASON

Now Opened—Industry Has Assumed Enormous Proportions.

The season for soiling and netting fish has opened in Illinois. The fish industry along the Illinois river has assumed enormous proportions. Five years fish were shipped out in box lots, whereas they now go to eastern markets in carload lots. More than 3,000 men are engaged in this business along the Illinois river alone. The reports for the present year will show that the aggregate amount of money derived from the fish industry along the Illinois river will be close to $700,000.

Pekin is one of the largest fish markets along the Illinois river between Lacon and St. Louis. All up and down the river cabin boats line the shores. The shore of the river about Pekin is lined with colonies of fisherman cabin boats and fishing shacks.

Nets and gillnets of various descriptions are used, the largest seine being about 1,000 yards in length and ten feet deep. During the open season the fishermen derive from their catches money to the amount of $300 and $400 per month, there being usually three fishermen in a party.

Since the turning on of the water from the Chicago canal refuse has been washed away and the water is more pure than ever before. Game fish are caught in the river with pole and line, something very uncommon previous to the opening of the canal.

The Illinois river, since it was stocked with German carp, yields up thousands of pounds of fish each year. The German carp propagate rapidly. It is said that 600 carp will deposit 250,000,000 eggs in one year, for each female is capable of supplying between 400,000 and 600,000 eggs. The inland lakes in this section of the state are being stocked with carp and a variety of cat fish known as "bull heads."

The pleasant purgative effect of these Tablets makes them a favorite with ladies everywhere. For sale by all leading druggists.

Every day this world has a large call for men who can do its work with skill and competence in diverse lines. Every day is a more uncertain world for boys who grow up shiftlessly, "taking chances" on what they shall do. There is safety and refuge in a god trade well learned. The boy is a gambler who learns a trade. Even if he becomes a lawyer, a merchant or a doctor, he will not be a worse one because he has in him for any emergency the cleverness, the strength and resource of the trained mechanic.

It is Not Always June

The man who said "In time of peace prepare for war" was a shrewd business manager. No better time in the whole year than to day to fill your bin with "Ideal" coal. These hot, sweltering days are reminders of the zero weather that's due here later on—and, confidently, Ideal coal is a mighty good investment at present prices. While we ourselves might quite naturally be prejudiced about Ideal coal, we don't ask you to trust our judgment. The hundreds who have used it in Jacksonville, and will now so no other, declare it to be the hottest, purest, most dependable softcoal that ever left the mine. We guarantee it. We know it will suit you to perfection. We know you'll thank your stars next winter for having filled your bin right now.

MODEL SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

Will Be Established in Educational Building at World's Fair—Illinois School Will Have Class in Printing With W. H. Clifford in Charge.

Prominent educators of the deaf throughout the country have interested themselves in the installation of a "model school for the deaf" in the educational building at the world's fair. The management of the school has been placed in the hands of Prof. Alvin E. Pope, an instructor in the National College for the Deaf at Washington, D. C., and he has succeeded in awakening a great deal of interest in the same. The methods employed in teaching the deaf will be illustrated by working classes from the various state schools, both in the school and industrial departments. The pupils and instructors will be quartered in the permanent granite buildings of the Washington university group. The hours for exhibition work will be from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. The Illinois school will be represented by a class in printing which will leave for St. Louis Monday morning in charge of Superintendent C. P. Gillett and W. H. Clifford, instructor in printing at the institution. Mr. Gillett expects to return in a day or two and Mr. Clifford will have charge of the class during its stay, which will probably be until Sept. 1st.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of coroner of Morgan county, subject to the decision of the Morgan county Republican convention. J. H. SPENCER.

Let no one forget the park election Tuesday. Polls open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. Remember the cost is slight. If a man's house is worth $1000, the tax will cost him but 40 cents, a sum too insignificant to be mentioned while the good it will do is immeasurable.

The park is a good thing, especially for those who have no means of getting out of town to have a good time. Those who have vehicles or money to travel by rail are all right, but there are a great many who have not these blessings and for these especially we should not grudge a small expense for a park.

All people who wish the advancement of Jacksonville and the welfare of all classes are earnestly requested to turn out and help carry the election for the park tax Tuesday. Don't vote against it by staying at home. Give all a chance to have a bit of fresh air and an outing. The cost will be very small for each one.

You who have money and vehicles of your own please remember the many who have not. You can go out of town when you wish, but the others can't. Vote for the park tax Tuesday and give the laboring man and mechanic a chance. A two mill tax is insignificant and will cost each but little. A place worth $750 would cost a man but 30 cents a year.

A park will be a good thing for the city. So many excursions have gone from town and so many other attractions have taken money from town that it has been felt. A park system will keep much of this at home and attract excursions in and help the city not a little. The tax asked is wholly insignificant. A man with a home worth $500 would pay 20 cents which he surely would not grudge.

THE NOMINATION.

Judge Parker has been nominated by the national Democratic convention and again Cleveland is in the saddle, booted and spurred, holding a bridle with a stiff curb bit. The career of the Democratic party the past eight years has been remarkable. Departing in some respects from its old time traditions it sought to win by appealing to passion and prejudice and came far nearer success than would have been supposed possible. Right in central Illinois in 1895 the free silver issue was born and set going by the snap Democratic convention of that year. A few politicians thought they saw in it a chance to win by attracting the discontented of all parties to their banner. The persons in debt, out of employment and the dissatisfied generally were relied on to rally around the standard of 16 to 1 and accomplish a sweeping victory and many times it has been said that if the election of '96 had come a few months sooner than it did the result would probably have been different. When President Cleveland refused to go back on his principles announced by him repeatedly he was branded as a traitor, a Judas Iscariot, a betrayer of his party and as one leading Democrat in this city remarked, a man too base to be properly described by any language the dictionary affords. Such men as General Palmer, Ben Cable, D. B. Hill, Judge Parker and thousands of others had no hesitation in declaring their views and while some supported Bryan they did it under protest and others refused to do so and were denounced almost as bitterly as was prevail. Even before that time the 1900 more sober counsels began to prevail. Even before that time the fallacy of the 16 to 1 doctrine exposed and in order to get up cry "Imperialism" was described as being hypocritical. Still Bryan and his followers did not down nor would in their untenable position Nebraska candidate this year, thought that money and wind would nominate a man acceptable to him. The Cleveland wing of the Democratic party began to come to the front and then the music began. Judge Parker was put forth by Hill, Cleveland and others and came in for the handsome epithets which had been bestowed on the fisherman of Buzzard's bay. He was denounced as the tool of Wall street, the friend of the trusts, the attorney of the money power, and the Courier put it mildly when it said editorially April 22nd: "Groyer Cleveland's advocacy of Judge Parker makes the issue clear. All the bolters of 1896 and 1900 have been for Parker from the first and it only needed the endorsement by Cleveland to make their plans so plain that no Democrat can be deceived as to their purpose. Let the 7,500,000 Democrats who fought under the banner of true Democracy in the last two campaigns put the right foot forward and crush this effort to betray the Democratic party into the hands of the enemy."

Then, as if that were not enough to crush the man from New York state the Courier said editorially April 21st: "Judge Parker's friends claim he would make a good president. So would Pyatt's Indian and for the same reason."

What a dish of crow the Democrats have been preparing for themselves and how hard it will be to eat it. "Train robbers" and "highwaymen" were some of the epithets used by Bryan in the national convention, while in New York and Chicago he spared no scathing terms in describing the man who has been nominated and the men who have been supporting him. Some already declare their unwillingness to stand for Parker and others are taking their medicine with the best grace possible, while the few gold Democrats in this vicinity, and they are few, are well pleased.

What a contrast between the nomination at Chicago. There the delegates had only to assemble and register the plainly expressed will of the great mass of the Republican party, the people who know a man brave and true, fearless and upright. Certainly some difference between him and Pyatt's Indian and the voters will doubtless so express themselves when election day arrives.

AS TO PARKER.

Parker committed to the gold standard, endorsed by Cleveland, controlled by Hill and backed by Wall street has been named as the nominee of the Democratic party for president.

It is a bitter pill. Will it be swallowed? Refused a hearing eight years ago Hill dominated and controlled the delegates assembled at the St. Louis convention. He was at all times master of the situation and in spite of the oratory of Bryan and the demonstrations from the galleries his forces never wavered and his triumph has been complete. But what of the issues? What has become of the silver plank, the imperialistic plank and the Kansas City and Chicago platforms?

Has the party been lost in the meshes of fallacy for eight years? Has the leader been a dreamer and a teacher of unsound doctrine?

If not, why then the repudiation of these former things? Doubtless it will be said the trusts have become the paramount issue. Indeed, then where is the line of safety with Alton B. Parker as the standard bearer? Known as the friend of the corporations, the adviser of Wall street and the worshiper of Cleveland what hope can the people have of finding in him a champion against monopolistic greed.

Cold and calculating indifferent to popular feeling and silent as the sphinx the candidate of the democracy will inspire little enthusiasm. He was not the nominee of the rank and file and his manner of accepting the greatest honor in the gift of his party showed him to be a man devoid of sentiment, that trait of character so essential to an understanding of the great troubling heart of the common people.

Parker may promise, but Roosevelt has performed. He has squared promise with performance.

How Babies Cry When They Are Ill.

Mothers are often worried as to what the cries of their infants mean when they seem to be sick or in pain and frequently are apt to diagnose the case wrongly. As a matter of fact, when an infant is dangerously ill it seldom cries, so that when it begins to cry a great deal during a severe illness it is usually a sign of amendment.

When a child suffers from inflammation of the lungs, it moans, but rarely cries. When suffering from bronchitis, the cry is gruff and rattling. When suffering from croup, the cry is sharp and fretful. When hungry, it is fretful and wailing.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

An Interesting Experiment With Floating Paper.

Here is an interesting experiment, boys and girls: Take a wet lead pencil point and draw on thick paper a triangle, which need not be mathematically perfect. Take a basin of water and lay this paper on the surface of the water, with the drawing up. Very carefully fill the space inside the lines with water. (The water will not flow beyond the lines which you drew with your wet lead pencil point.) Next take a needle or pin, dip the point of it into the wet triangle near one of the angles, but don't let it touch the paper. Now an odd thing will happen. The paper will be sure to move on the water until the center of area comes directly under the point. You should previously have found where the center of area is by drawing lines from any two angles to the centers of the opposite sides. The point where the two lines cross will be the center of area. Try this interesting experiment.

The Clock's Story.

"Whir-r-r-r, whir-r-r-r!" Take me down." The sound proceeded from a shelf. I was alone in the room, and I jumped up to see where the sound came from. I looked on the shelf and found it to be a clock, which seemed very glad to be taken down. I set it on the table, and it told the following story: "Once I was a beautiful clock just finished, with my brothers and sisters. I was put in a box and sent to a large store and put in a show window. I was seen by a man, who purchased me and took me to this house. I served him from January until May of the same year, but one day another clock appeared. I was put on this shelf, which made me feel sad, and I could not keep time. However, I was left here for years. I am glad you took me down from that horrid place."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Cooking Eggs Without Fire.

Did any of you boys and girls ever hear of boiling an egg without a fire? This sounds very funny, but it can be done. Here is the way to do it:

With a pin make a hole at both ends of a raw egg and allow a small part of the white to run out. Take the purest alcohol and pour it through the holes you have made. Close the two openings with a little wax and shake the egg thoroughly, so that the alcohol will mix with the contents left in the egg.

At the end of four minutes break the shell, and your audience will behold what looks for all the world like a hard boiled egg, and yet on handling it they will find it cold.

An Educated Dog.

FIDO AT WORK.

Fido's putting on such airs And stays up now till late at night, Because, you see, he's found, has he, That doggerel he can write.

The Meadow Lark.

The meadow lark is certainly a sweet singer and is also a very shy little fellow. His nest is placed upon the ground, as a rule, in a tuft of grasses, which is arranged to form a dome over it. In this nest are laid from four to six eggs, white, spotted or speckled with cinnamon or reddish brown.

The bird's upper parts are black, brown and buff, under part yellow, a black crescent on the breast, sides streaked with black, outer tail feathers white.

What a Boy Thought.

A little boy was doing an errand for a blind lady.

"Give me a pound of tea," he said to the grocer.

"Green or black?" asked the man.

"It don't make no difference. It's for a blind lady," was the reply.

Rosa and the Stockings.

Little Rosa's grandmother was knitting her a pair of stockings.

When one was done, she tried it on.

Gazing at it awhile, she said:

"Grandmother, why didn't you knit the other one first? Then they would both be done now."

What a Horse Can Do.

The 16,000 saloons in New York city claim to give away each year $12,000,000 worth of lunches. "If that is so," says the Brooklyn Eagle, "the saloons cut a larger figure in the relief of poverty than do most of charity societies. Still that is not why they exist." "Hardly," remarks the New York Times. "The times is correct. Free lunches are not furnished to relieve poverty, but to increase business.
The saloon would not provide free food
if it did not increase the profits on expensive drinks."

PATENT MEDICINES.
A man that compounds or invents something that is just a little better than the next best thing, is certainly entitled to the best share of the profits to be derived from the sale of the article. So he patents or copyrights to protect his interests. Patented goods are good goods, poor goods are never patented. We have 20 years of trial behind us to give us the assurance that we have the best medicine compounded for the cure of dyspepsia, sick-headache, biliousness, indigestion and all stomach disorders. We protect the public as well as ourselves by keeping the formula a secret, as long as we make it we know it is made right and it cures these diseases. Druggists tell us that it is the one medicine that the sale is ever on the increase. To get the best remedy for dyspepsia or indigestion ask the druggists for Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills, price 25c per box, only one for a dose. For sale by Lee
P. Albett.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, July 9.—Wheat—Trade was rather unsettled, but volume was smaller than yesterday. The feeling was somewhat unsettled and the close 1/4% lower for July, unchanged for September. The start was lower, due to improved weather conditions, but rallied temporarily on foreign news. Later offerings increased and prices again settled back. At the decline professionals gave the market fair support and there was buying for southwest account.
Corn—Moderate trade and weaker feeling manifested, close showing losses of 3/4%. There was further fluctuation by local longs at the start, improved weather being the main influence. Shorts were principally buyers.
Oats—Oats were liberally traded in and averaged lower. Prices receded 3/4% and closed about bottom. The break was in sympathy with other grains and early weather. Local longs were good sellers and several of the largest shorts did most of the buying.
Flour—Market quiet with no special change in prices.

Cattle—About 1,000 received, including a large share consigned direct to packers. The few lots offered were mostly on the early side and sold at unchanged prices. Good to prime, $4.50@5.25; poor to medium, $4.00@4.50; stockers, $2.25@4.00.
Hogs—Receipts, 16,000. There has been good demand and hogs made a new record Monday, selling up to $5.75. Since then the market weakened and there was a further decline of 5c to day. Mixed and butchers, $5.30@5.50; good to choice heavy, $5.50@5.75; rough heavy, $5.00@5.25; light, $4.50@4.75.
Sheep—To day's receipts were estimated at 2,000 and prices were firm at recent advance.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

What the Child Wished For After Hearing Papa's Sermon.

Hand in hand they wandered among the posies of a New England garden, a father and his little girl, and the Sabbath peace was over all.

The father was a clergyman of the old school, and that morning he had preached to the quiet country folk of the wrath of God, and the tortures of hell, and the fearful punishment and retribution which a just and angry God sends upon the children of men. The little child had listened thoughtfully as he preached long and earnestly of the wrath of God and the torments of the damned.

The clergyman returned to his home and walked with his little girl among the flowers in his garden. He loved her very dearly, and he plucked the sweetest flowers and gave them to her and kissed her and led her footstep with the gentleness and tenderness of fatherhood.

Suddenly the little one looked up into his face. "Dear papa," she said wistfully, "I wish God was as good as you are!" — Lippincott's Magazine.

Faint Heart and Fair Lady.

She—Yes.

He—Well, here is one: "If I were to propose to you, what would you say?"

Power of Expression Gone.

"Was your French chauffeur seriously hurt in that automobile accident?"

"Yes; he was knocked practically speechless."

"Speechless? How?"

"Shoulder dislocated; can't shrug." — Chicago Tribune.

Her Purgatory.

"But surely," protested the lately departed Boston girl, "you are not going to take me to the—er—in—fernal regions?"

"Only for a few seconds," replied the attendant spirit. "We must thaw you out a little." — Town Topics.

The Foxy Daughter.

Ethel—Do you spend all of your allowance?

Grace—No; I always save a little. The thrift of it pleases father so much that he always gives me something extra at the end of the month. Detroit Free Press.

No Improvement.

"It's impossible for me to think and operate the typewriter at the same time," said the humorist.

"Fif!" exclaimed the editor.

"Then you are no better off than when you used a pen." — Denver News.

Naval Engagement.

He—I see another naval engagement is reported.

She—More fighting?

He—I suppose so. The captain is engaged to the rear admiral's daughter. — Yonkers Statesman.

Truly Heroic.

"He had a play produced by an amateur company the other night, I believe. Who was the hero of it, do you know?"

"I was one. I sat through it." — Philadelphia Ledger.

Intelligence.

Once upon a time a dog came upon a man eating what he liked, regardless.

"His intelligence is almost canine!" exclaimed the dog, growling. — Puck.

Let Him Down Easy.

Father—Can George support you?

Daughter—He'll try it. You might put our allowance on a diminishing scale. — Cleveland Leader.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

The Beautifying Lemon.

A slice of lemon as a soap at the toilet works wonders on the skin. The acid searches out the hidden grime that may be contained in the pores and cleanses these tiny pipes as soap could never do. No polisher for the nails can excel in efficiency this same lemon juice, which takes out all stains from the corners of the nails, polishes up their horny texture, makes them shine and softens the thin skin at the roots so that the half moons at the end show up well.

Delicious Drink For Invalids.

A deliciously cool and refreshing drink for an invalid is orange pulp served in a glass. To prepare it you cut the fruit in half crosswise and scoop out the pulp, rejecting all the seeds and white fiber. A sharp knife may be used to aid in the process, so that the delicate globules may be broken as little as possible. Sprinkle with sugar and stand the glasses in ice for ten minutes. Pineapple syrup may be added to give zest.

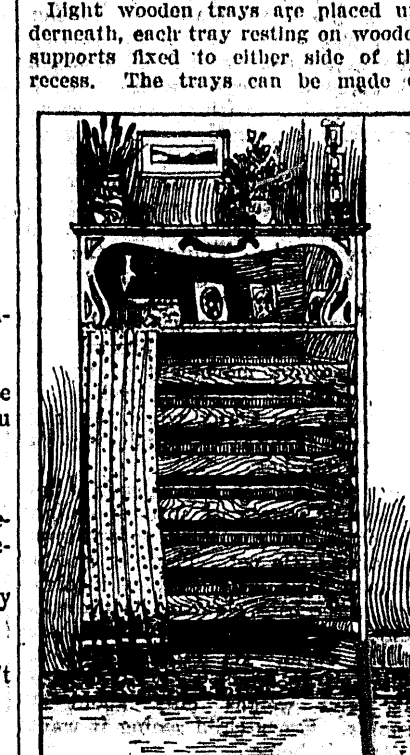

Muslin Walking Gowns.

It is a comfortable prediction that dark muslins will be fashionable for promenade wear this summer, and the newest models have no trimmings on the skirt except two or three flounces. A dark blue muslin skirted with a fine pattern has the skirt flounces headed with a ruffling of pink taffeta, which also trim the draped sash around the shoulders.

A Room Utilized.

A recess in the house is never particularly pretty and generally is only used to dispose of some ugly piece of furniture. The illustration shows how to turn such a recess into a capital contrivance for storing linen. The top part is covered in and has an ornamental front forming a sort of alcove where photographs, china and bric-a-brac can be prettily disposed of.

Light wooden trays are placed underneath, each tray resting on wooden supports fixed to either side of the recess. The trays can be made of

HANDY LINEN CLOSET.

White wood and are fitted with little "peg" handles, the depth and number of the trays depending on your requirements.

A brass rod runs across the front of the recess, from which hangs a curtain of some pretty material, a stenciled art linen being always fresh looking. Put plenty of tiny bags of lavender, camphor and orris in the linen trays, and what a sweet scented recess you will have!

Pillows of Moltre.

White and colored moltre silks are beautiful for pillows when worked in the new fashion, with white embroidery silk and honiton braids.

A pale green one, worked in white and finished with a white silk cord, is dainty and useful.

These combinations are rare in pillows nowadays.

To Clean Alpaca or Cloth.

Mildewed fabrics, alpaca or cloth as well as white goods, can be restored by spreading a thick paste of buttermilk and salt over the stained portion and laying in the sun for a day. Renew the paste every four hours, and repeat the next day if necessary. Soft soap and powdered chalk are also effective.

For Cane Seat Chairs.

When cane seat chairs become shabby and the elasticity has gone out of them they may be restored by turning up the seat and washing the cane work with hot water and a sponge till it is thoroughly soaked. If the cane work is very dirty use a little salt. Dry the chairs in the fresh air.

To Cook a Tough Chicken.

The best possible way to cook a tough chicken is to braise it or bake it in a casserole, either method involving long, slow cooking. A tablespoonful of vinegar placed in the bottom of the roasting pan and used in the basting will wonderfully help to render a doubtful chicken tender.

About Gelatin.

A good general rule always to remember in the use of gelatin is to soften the gelatin in cold water, then to dissolve in boiling water. Neglect of either part of the process will cause trouble in making jellies.

To Wash Chambray.

Chambray is one of the few things which come out smooth and soft from washing if wrung directly from the soapsuds without rinsing in clear water. The latter process tends to harden it.

DEATH RECORD

HOLLY.

The infant daughter of George and Mabel Holly residing near Arnold station died recently.

The funeral was conducted at the family residence. The parents have the sympathy of many friends.

KELLY.

Francis Kelly, for fifty-four years a resident of Morgan county, entered into rest Friday evening at his home near Concord. Death came suddenly and was a sad blow to his friends and relatives in this city and vicinity.

Francis Kelly was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1820. At the age of 21 years he emigrated to this country, and soon after his arrival here settled in Morgan county. His whole life from that time was spent near Concord, where he followed farming as an occupation.

His death occurred July 8 at 6 o'clock p. m., and although quite sudden, had no doubt been anticipated by himself for some time previous. He is survived by his wife and two sons, J. J. and Edward Kelly, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Alva Rexroat, of Concord. The funeral will be held at the residence of his son, J. J. Kelly, on East Duval street, Monday morning, July 11, at 8:45 o'clock, thence to the Church of Our Savior, with interment in Calvary cemetery.

A. R. Bass, of Morgantown, Ind., had to get up ten or twelve times in the night, and had a severe backache and pains in the kidneys. Was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

William Brown, Jr., of Chicago, arrived in the city Saturday evening for a brief visit.

MAD DOG SCARE

Slaughter of Canines Near Wabash Freight Depot.

Residents in the vicinity of the Wabash tracks between North Main and Sandy streets were terrorized Saturday morning by a mad dog scare. During the morning a dog said to belong to Robert Eads, but which has recently to all appearances, adopted Michael Schneider as his master, was observed to be acting in a strange manner, running about with its head down and snapping at other canines which came in its path. It is said that the animal attempted to enter several houses in the neighborhood.

The police were notified and Chief Dunavan and Policeman Deatherage responded and upon their arrival found that the source of all the trouble had already been executed with a hatchet in the hands of Ed Ratliff. The animal had bitten several dogs in the neighborhood, and as a matter of precaution these were also put to death, despite the loud protest of their owners. Among them were dogs belonging to Taylor Reed, Pat Mullens and others.

There are several hundred ownerless dogs in the city and the sooner they are killed off the better it will be for everybody. Few of them are fed and cared for, the great majority being obliged to forage for food and drink. Lack of these necessities is what drives the animals to madness, and as long as such a condition exists there will always be danger.

Fred H. Rankin, secretary of the live stock exhibit at the world's fair, is visiting at the home of his father, H. B. Rankin, on West State street.

CARD-PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Price entertained a company of friends at cards Friday evening at their home on South-West street. About thirty-five guests were present and enjoyed a delightful evening. A graphophone concert was given and light refreshments were served.

BABY ELEPHANTS

The Few Born in Bondage Belong to Barnum and Bailey.

A careful search among all existing records discloses the surprising fact that but three elephants were ever born in captivity, and a still more surprising truth remains, that the entire three first saw the light of day under the canvass pavilion of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth.

The first event of this kind ever known in history occurred in Philadelphia in the year 1879, the baby pachyderm being named "Columbia" and it subsequently proved the curious cause of the consolidation of the show owned at that time by J. A. Bailey and the one owned at that time by the late Hon. P. T. Barnum. The second event took place after the shows had become united in the winter quarters in Bridgeport, Conn., in the year 1881, and was the subject of much scientific interest, as the occasion became a memorable one, owing to the presence of the most distinguished savants of the country who were there several days in advance of the event for the purpose of making scientific data. The second little newcomer was named "Bridgeport" in honor of the city of its birth. It is alive and well to day, and one of the three performing elephants now with the show. The third baby elephant made its entrance into this world of pleasure last year, while the show was on its tour of the continent of Europe, and is, so far as can be learned, the only one ever born in captivity in the eastern hemisphere. And that completes the total of all ever born while the mothers were in bondage.

It was ascertained at the birth of the first elephant in Philadelphia that the little one suckled with its mouth and not with its trunk as was generally imagined, and this important fact was fully determined by the birth of the second in Bridgeport, as well as the period of gestation, which is now well known to be twenty months. Visitors to the Barnum & Bailey show can now see a real baby elephant and its mother, and may see with what tender and affectionate care the bigger beast watches every movement of her little one, gently pulling it back toward her with her trunk when the little fellow is inclined to wander too far away from her.

To the children the baby is a never-ending source of intense delight, for it is really a most entertaining, cunning little pet. There is another curious little beast just as interesting as the baby elephant in the same tent, and that is the smallest horse in the world. Its name is "Speck," and it is no larger than a fair-sized dog and weighs only about 110 pounds. Every child seeing it wants to take it home.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Republican convention for Morgan county will meet Monday, July 11, at 12 o'clock, noon, at the circuit court room in Jacksonville, to nominate candidates for the offices of state's attorney, clerk of circuit court, coroner, county superintendent of schools and county commissioner.

The announcements that have appeared in the Journal are as follows:

For circuit clerk, C. L. Hayden. For coroner, P. M. Ferguson, Oliver Mason and J. H. Spencer.

In addition to the above named candidates the friends of M. L. Hildreth have been talking him for the office of circuit clerk and two precincts have passed resolutions endorsing him if a candidate, but Mr. Hildreth has other interests and it is said will decline to enter the list. The name of George E. Sybrant for the office of circuit clerk is also mentioned by friends. J. S. Merrill's name is frequently mentioned in connection with this office. Many of his friends have been urging him for the nomination and it is said he has concluded to make the race.

For state's attorney the friends of J. H. Danskin, those of Wm. T. Wilson, of B. A. VanWinkle, and of Frank Weimle, respectively, are urging their several claims. One hears all these names mentioned, some here, some there, in his rounds about the town. Yet the writer is unable to say which of the gentlemen are open and avowed candidates for the office.

For coroner J. J. Tribble's name is heard as a candidate from Waverly precinct. Also the name of J. H. DeLong from the same precinct, in connection with the office of county superintendent of schools.

For the last named office J. H. Reid and H. A. Withee, both of this city, are mentioned, but neither of these last two will enter the lists. George Deitrick, of Concord, has been endorsed by the delegation of that place for county commissioner, and the gentleman's name is frequently heard here in connection with that office.

John Berger, of Meredosia, is also a candidate for commissioner and was empowered to select his own delegates at the Meredosia primary held Saturday evening.

BRIGHTON HANDICAP

Broomstick Wins Race and Beats Previous Record for Distance.

New York, July 9.—The Brighton handicap, valued at $25,000, one mile and a quarter, was won by Broomstick, 104 pounds up, at 6 to 1; Irish Lad was second, Highball third. Time, 2:02 4-5.

This time beats the best previous record for the distance, which was 2:03 1-5, made by Waterboy, with 124 pounds up, on July 8, 1903.

ENDED THEIR LIVES.

New York, July 9.—Miss Bertha Dolbeer, of San Francisco, said to have been a daughter of the late S. E. Dolbeer, a millionaire of that city, committed suicide to day by jumping from a ninth floor window of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Nearly every bone in her body was broken and death was instantaneous.

Philadelphia, July 9.—Former Postmaster John Field, a leading business man of this city, committed suicide by shooting himself to day.

CLAIM SETTLED.

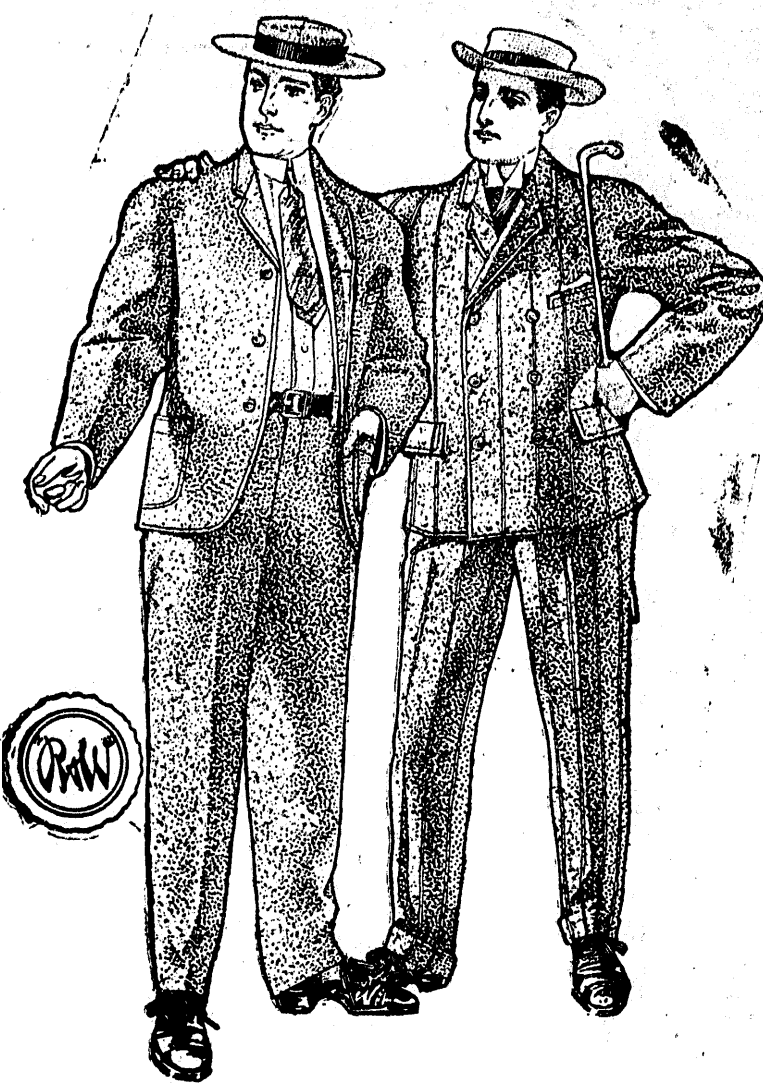

Washington, July 9.—The Chinese government has settled the claim growing out of the killing of Louis Etzel, the newspaper correspondent, by ordering the punishment of the officer and soldiers that fired upon and killed Etzel, and will pay an indemnity of $25,000 Mexican to the widowed mother of Etzel in Denver.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

The Right Way to Wash Dishes and Cooking Utensils.

The dirty dishes and plates should be put into a dish tub of warm water at once when taken from the table. By this means half the trouble of washing them will be saved, as it will prevent the gravy, juice, mustard, etc., from cooling and drying on the plates and dishes. When you commence washing them, add sufficient boiling water to make it very hot, and with a dishcloth or dish mop wash on both sides, one at a time. Then rinse in a pap of hot water or under a running tap. This makes them clean and bright looking and removes any little grease that might remain. Now put them in a rack or on one side to drain. Then polish them.

The saucepans and pots which have been used for cooking should be cleaned next. The proper plan is to fill them with warm water as soon as the food has been taken out of them, and whatever may hang about the sides cannot stick or dry hard, and they will clean much more easily. Clean the insides with soda, and if very dirty the soda should be boiled in them. They should afterward be well rinsed with boiling water and made perfectly dry by being placed upon the kitchen range.
